

Why Hire a Trident Master Technician

As a manufacturer of professional grade cleaning and sealing products for the pressure wash industry, we strive to support our contractor customers in achieving surface restoration success with comprehensive training and support.

To become a Master Technician, a contractor needs to invest a substantial amount of time in successfully completing multiple classes (Introduction to Sealing, Intensive Training and Advanced Training) and five sealing jobs using Trident products. Only those who compete these steps and make a commitment to using Trident sealers exclusively will be considered as a Trident Master Technician. The Master Technician status does not guarantee a contractor's work but does demonstrate their commitment to achieving quality work and surface restoration success.
